

Q: What will you learn from artists who don't have a "day job?" A: Everything.

No Shiny Poofy! You could learn everything we know about making it as a working artist.

small group!

!Attention! Only 20 students will be registered so you need to act right now.

Enroll now & come to Arizona for the Feb. '08 "Outside In Storytelling Boot Camp." Learn the secrets, tips and tricks to being successful as a working full- or part-time storyteller (or any other type of performing artist & public speaker). Presented by working artists without that shiny-poofy, touchy-feely language about changing the world. That's for later. First, be an audience-centered performer.

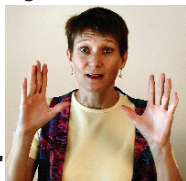

THEN- Get your marketing and finances under control and succeed in the business of being an artist! Attend the intensive, three-day "Outside In Storytelling Boot Camp" in Phoenix, Arizona this February 27-29, 2008. That's Wednesday Dinner through Friday Lunch. Just $445 per person including supplies, most meals and some more goodies, too. Free food + marketing success = happy artists!

Beginners and pros benefit from our coaching!

Presented by Sean Buvala, the director of Storyteller.net, with more than two decades of surviving as a working artist.

Special Guest for 2/2008 is Priscilla Howe, a gifted, full-time, storyteller from Kansas. You'll hear from both these pros at Camp!

www.outsideinstorytelling.com

Storyteller.net
www.outsideinstorytelling.com
PO Box 392
Tolleson, AZ 85353

Mark Your Calendar for Feb 27-29, 2008

Wow!

Save $150 with an early-bird discount, if we have any left. Visit the website right now. Go. Now.